S.A. Minister Of Public Works Visits I.E.

The Minister of Public Works, Jeff Radebe and other high level South African dignitaries met at the home of Hardy & Cheryl Brown, Publishers of the Black Voice, to discuss ways African-Americans can help South Africans build the areas which were neglected during apartheid. The delegation is here to meet people in various communities in selected cities in the United States. Radebe and Sipho Shezi, Secretary of Public Works, met with a varied group. There will be massive Public Works Projects in South Africa and they have many high level engineers and many workers. What they need however, is people who are on the project manager level for the Public Works Projects. The meeting is part of a plan by the ANC (African National Congress) to work with African-Americans on a community level to involve people who have experience various fields. The afternoon discussion centered on building the infrastructure and housing. New County Data Paints Revealing Picture Of State's Children

▲Children's Group
Urges Citizens To Vote For Kids in November Election.

Children Now, a leading nonpartisan policy and advocacy organization for children, today released the County Data Book 1994, the most current data available of the state's 58 counties. The analysis reveals a grim snapshot of our state's children in the critical areas of education, safety, health and economic security. Among the most alarming new statistics are:

EDUCATION
• Twenty-four percent of fourth graders could not fully understand a basic reading assignment in the state, and 20 percent of the eighth graders could not write a basic essay.

• California schools produced more African-American and Latino drop-outs than African-American and Latino students prepared to go to college, although some districts prove the exception to the rule.

SAFETY:
• Gun deaths of children are closely associated with the availability of guns. The seven counties with the highest number of children killed also had the highest number of gun sales (Los Angeles, Orange, San Diego, Alameda, San Bernardino, Riverside and Sacramento counties).

• Children's safety is not only an issue in large urban areas. Rural counties scored highest in the incidence of child abuse and neglect.

HEALTH:
• Every year more than 35,000 infants are born at low birthweight-more than any other state in the nation.

• Low birthweight is an espe-

A Year in the Life of California's Children

Figures show that our children are in danger.
For Los Angeles County, in one year:

- 616,711 children cannot afford school lunch
- 1,421 babies died before their first birthday
- 9,542 babies were born to mothers with late or no prenatal care
- 12,127 babies were born at low birthweight
- 166,613 children were reported abused
- 432 children were killed by guns
- 48,889 children were owed child support but received nothing cially serious problem among African-Americans. But one of the poorest counties has the state's best infant mortality rate for African-Americans.

ECONOMIC SECURITY:
• There are 1.6 million children in California whose families cannot afford health insurance.

• Only 40% of California children awarded court-ordered child support receive the money owed to them.

"Children Now has been producing these reports on an annual basis and we continue to be disappointed with the unnecessary difficulties facing California's children. But, we are also heartened by the improvements we can identify. Although they are not as extensive as we would like, they prove that good programs do exist and that conditions can be turned around. It requires constant pressure from the public to demand that our elected officials do right by our kids", stated James P. Steyer, president of Children Now.

For the first time in four years, the County Data Book reports not only how well all children are doing but, for key health and education indicators, also measures outcomes for each of the four major ethnic groups: Anglos, Latinos, African-Americans and Asians (combined with others). Within this data we found:

• California is the first and, so far the only state in the nation where the majority of children (56%) come from African-American, Latino, Asian and Native-American families.

• While the outcomes for all children are grim, for Latinos and African-American children they are often worse.

• In some specific areas, minority children are experiencing reversals from negative trends.

The County Data Book identifies a number of community and county success stories, programs throughout the state that are successfully meeting and overcoming the unique challenges of the diverse state. Despite identifying many disturbing facts, the report highlights solutions that point the way to success for all children. The programs highlighted include:

• What Kind of Parent Will You Be? Think About It California Dept. of Social Services

• POP: The Paternity Opportunity Program California Dept. of Social Services

Black Employees File Discrimination Suit Against Edison

BY MICHAEL WHITE
Black Voice News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Nine Black employees filed a lawsuit alleging racist employment practices at Southern California Edison Co., which is already being investigated by two federal agencies for alleged racial discrimination.

Plaintiffs in the federal lawsuit filed Wednesday contend that Edison, a subsidiary of SCE Corp., has maintained a work environment that is hostile to Blacks and other minorities.

They contend they have been passed over for promotion in favor of less-qualified workers and that the company has deterred Blacks from seeking promotions and training.

Frank J. Quevedo, Edison's manager of equal opportunity, said he had not seen the lawsuit, which seeks unspecified compensatory and punitive damages.

Quevedo, however, defended the company's minority employment policies in general. He said Blacks made up 5 percent of the company's management, a 45 percent increase since 1989, when Edison adopted minority hiring and advancement goals to apply through the year 2000. Blacks make up 7.5 percent of Edison's 17,777 workers, he said.

"We're absolutely committed to increasing opportunities for minorities ... and have a specific and vigorous and well thought out effort in that regard," he said.

Some of the plaintiffs in the lawsuit were parties to a discrimination complaint filed with the California Public Utilities Commission in 1993.

The commission dismissed that complaint, saying it was not a proper forum. Some of the employees moved their complaints to the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, said Sheila Thomas, an attorney with the Oakland firm Saperstein, Mayeda & Goldstein, which is handling the federal lawsuit.

The Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs also is investigating allegations of discrimination at Edison, Ms. Thomas said.

"Our allegations are that the

discrimination is pervasive, at every level within the company," she said.

"There is a glass ceiling, there is a consistent pattern in which African-Americans hit a level in the company at which they are unable to move up any more," she said.

Attorneys will ask the court to qualify their lawsuit as a class action on behalf of all African-American employees at Edison, Ms. Thomas said.

Don Burris, deputy director of the EEOC in Los Angeles, said privacy laws prohibited him from commenting on whether an investigation is under way.

An affirmative action compliance review of Edison is being conducted by the OFCCP, said spokesman Tino Serrano. He said he could not comment on whether it was a result of employee complaints or one of the periodic reviews the agency conducts.

Richard Rice, an electrical engineer with Edison for 24 years, said he was repeatedly denied promotion despite a good work record and bachelor's and master's degrees in his field from the University of California, Los Angeles and the University of Southern California.

Rice blamed the problem in part to a tendency of White managers to smooth the way for their White subordinates to advance.

"I think African-Americans just are not given the opportunity to perform in the positions they are qualified for," he said. "Whereas non-African-Americans are mentored and groomed to where they can gain the experience that they can rise through the ranks."

Rep. George E. Brown To Appear On ABC's Prime-time Live

Representative George E. Brown, Jr. (D-San Bernardino) will appear on the ABC news program "Prime-time Live" on Thursday, September 29, at 10:00 p.m. Rep. Brown was interviewed for a story on the mission of the National Reconnaissance Office (NRO), the government agency in charge of the nation's spy satellites. The NRO was recently in the news when a Senate committee accused the intelligence community of hiding the construction of a $300 million headquarters for the NRO from Congress.

In 1988, Rep. Brown resigned in protest from the House Permanent Select Committee on Intelligence after waging a public campaign, using only publicly available information, to loosen the veil of secrecy surrounding the NRO.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

DEAR EDITOR:

It has been widely publicized recently that Mark Takano, running in the Democratic primary as a candidate for Congress, was a registered Republican for many years. This news came as no surprise to me. I served on the Riverside Community College Board of Trustees with Mark. I did not find him to be supportive of positions regarded as moderate or liberal. I never regarded Mark as a Democrat. He aligned himself with the conservative - even reactionary - tendencies. He was not sensitive to the problems or needs of the minorities in our community. In the forthcoming election he does not merit the political support of the minorities. It would be a mistake for the leaders of the Black community to be duped by Takano.

What Riverside needs is an authentic, attractive Democrat who understands the issues and concerns in our Congressional District and is experienced in dealing with them. There should be a concerted effort to find such a candidate for 1996.

In the latest news release from the California Department of Education the Dropout rate continues to decline. Since 1986 the rate has decreased 38.8%. For African-American students the decline is 38.1% with the current rate of 22.1% it was as high as 35.7%. Black female dropout rate is 20.5% while Black males are at 23.7% for the same reporting period. San Bernardino County reported a drop rate of 15.4% and Riverside County a rate of 13.2% was reported.

Blacks make up 9.9% of the K-12 student body.

You can see there is much work to do. The question is what are you going to do? What can the Community do? What can the Churches do? What can Businesses do? What can Organizations do? What can the Cities do? What can the Counties do?

Last, but not least, what am I doing right now?

Racial Discrimination Goes All The Way To The Grave

BY MARLENE RUSSELL

The Victims' Witness Program is a project that has been created for the purpose of providing qualifying applicants with state funds to be disbursed for burial expenses, consolatory counseling or medical bills. The program is channeled through the district attorneys office and a panel of judges after reviewing the evidence decide whether a victim or the close relatives of a victim of a violent crime are entitled to financial compensation....The district attorneys office defines a victim of a violent crime in the following manner, "One who has been physically harmed or killed by another." The definition is supposed to apply to a victim regardless of race, color or creed of one who has been victimized. However, experience has taught me that the definition falls short of doing so! On the night of October 1, 1994, a small sports car sped along Highway 74, and carried as its cargo two young Black males. At the same time a lone Hispanic man raced his truck along the same roadway; however, he was driving on the opposite lane. The small car entered a winding lane and on doing so seemingly lost control of the vehicle. The car swerved; hitting the truck head-on. The small car burst into flames on impact, each of the occupants died immediately, as did the driver of the truck.

One of those killed that night, was a 23 year old man named Terry L. Wilson. Terry was my son!

Before going any further, I must say, there is no pain as cruel to the soul of a Mother than that which accompanies the loss of a child. In an effort to quiet the pain and anger, I decided upon graveside services. Each morning I awoke to face the dark shadows of anger, pain, sorrow and despair. The emotions grew deeper when I received a call from a representative for the Mothers Against Drunk Driving Organization. She indicated that numerous empty beer cans had been found at the scene of the fatal crash.

She further explained that since my son had been a passenger and not the driver of the car; he'd been a victim of vehicular homicide. I learned that if I did not file for victims status, he would be documented as a suicide. On hearing the information I recalled conversations that had taken place between employees of the Riverside Coroners office and myself prior to burial of my son. They asked if Terry had gang affiliations, if he always wore the gold chain that was around his neck on the night of the accident and if he generally rode in expensive cars. . .They implied that the death car was a car used frequently by drug dealers. I asked the employees to join forces with members of local and federal law enforcement. They would find that he'd been jailed twice for traffic violations and spent no more than 10 days in jail. The questions clearly had nothing to do with the accident itself, but everything to do with the color of his skin! Here, it must be mentioned, my son had four dollars in his wallet on the night he died and had been hired by K-Mart 15 hours prior to the accident. Several weeks after filing with the victims witness program, I was informed by one of the employees that my claim might be rejected. When I asked why, I was told that my son might have known that the driver of the car had been drunk and if he knew this; he could not in all fairness be a victim. Being one to search and find, I spoke with people who had talked with my son less than an hour before the accident. All agreed that my son had no real knowledge of the amount of alcohol that had been consumed by the driver of the car. All agreed that the driver of the car had not been drunk. I located a member of the fire department that had been on the scene and he shared the following with me 'It may be hard for a Black person to receive victims assistance. There are several Black families who have been fighting their cases for years and have not won.'

The news inspired me to begin writing a series of letters. Some landed on the desk of the victims' program. Others on the desk of the district attorneys office.

Eight months after the death of my son, I received a letter from the district attorneys office. The letter, though coldly constructed, informed me that my son had been a victim of vehicular homicide. I can't help but wonder; however, had not God blessed me with so precious a gift as knowledge ...would the out-come have been the same or would I have been one of dozens fighting to have my son recognized not only for who he'd been in life, but also the classification he readily deserved in death.

In conclusion, it must be said a test of faith in God comes in many forms, colors and ways. Thank God, faith held me up and with this I whisper, "Goodnight Terry".

DEAR DR. LEVISTER: What is Valley Fever? A concerned mother.

DEAR CONCERNED: Valley Fever, San Joaquin Fever, Desert Fever, Desert Rheumatism and Coccidioid Granuloma are various names used for infections caused by Coccidioides immitis, a fungus. Coccidioidomycosis lives in soil under semi-arid conditions-hot, dry summers, mild winters with moderate rainfall-known as the lower Sonora Life Zone.

Coccidioidomycosis is found primarily in the western hemisphere. In the United States it is found in California, Arizona, New Mexico, Nevada, southwest Texas and areas of Mexico adjacent to the United States.

The disease is transmitted by inhalation of the infectious fungus from the soil and in laboratory accidents. It is not transmitted from one human to another. It takes one to four weeks for a primary infection to occur after the fungus accesses the body.

In areas in which Coccidioidomycosis is found, 80% of initial residents, after five years, will have developed a primary infection and/or positive skin test. Recovery is generally followed by solid lifelong immunity.

With this primary respiratory infection 60% of patients are asymptomatic, 40% may have 'flu symptoms with chills, cough and chest pain. In primary infection they may heal com-

Transportation is also available at selected local schools. "As well as a discounted rate if the $20.00 is the determining factor of child care and children staying home alone", says Jerry Herndon, Executive Director for the past 10 years. "We strongly feel that our community's children should have quality child care as an alternative to coming home alone, because parents have to work or because they are in a single family home and fees are simply not in the budget. We must plan for our children's future now, because accidents happen to children when they are forced by circumstances to stay home alone, so alternatives must be made somehow!"

In a world that has never seemed more threatening a devoid of promise for America's children, especially economically disadvantaged or the working family, the Boys and Girls Club of San Bernardino provides a tangible measure of hope. The Club offers young people what they need and want most-adults who respect and listen to them; a safe environment where they can have fun and be themselves and interesting, fun and constructive activities.

Don't even burden yourself with the thought of leaving your child or children home alone, The Boys and Girls Club of San Bernardino is here for you-give them a call!

Dissemination is more common in the American Indian, Mexicans, Blacks, Filipinos and other Asians, pregnant women and in patients with AIDS or other forms of immunosuppression.

The key is the body's ability to self-contain the disease. Reactivation of a past primary infection can occur in those patients who have become immuno suppressed by medications given to them by their physician and/or who have the HIV infection and the primary infection is not treated.

Specific treatment is beneficial in severe and disseminated infections. There are primarily two drugs used for this. Both drugs have serious side effects.

There is no vaccination and preventive measures involving dust control.

Valley Fever

Our Bodies

Ernest Levister, Jr., M.D.

pletely without detectable residual except a positive skin test for Coccidioidomycosis or one may find small calcified lesions in the lungs in the vast majority of infected individuals.

The disease affects all ages, all races and both sexes. Dissemination occurs when the disease spreads and affects other body systems, but the most important sites are bone, genitourinary system and brain. Dissemination occurs in 0.5-1% of adult White males with primary infections. The risk in non-pregnant White females is 1/5 as great as in White males.

Jackson Cuts Ribbon For Loveland Academy's New Campus

BY ESTHER SMITH
ALEXANDER

Fontana/Rancho Cucamonga - On Sunday, September 25, 1994, Rev. Jesse Jackson blessed both services at Loveland Church with an inspiring and timely message on dreams - appropriate for the ribbon cutting ceremony that took place at Loveland Academy, a Christian school, on Sierra and Baseline in Fontana, as they celebrated the "Dreams Come True Project." The ceremony was held between the 8:00 and 11:00 morning services at Etiwanda High School where Rev. Jesse Jackson was the guest speaker. Rev. Jackson reminded those in attendance that Loveland's Sr. Pastor, Chuck Singleton, was not only involved in church work but also the work of the church, as he has been "called to serve and enlighten the minds of our children. The gospel unfolds in a will to educate children," said Rev. Jackson. "I hope it's epidemic around the country because we need 100,000 more Loveland projects instead of 100,000 more police. We should teach children to lay bricks, not throw bricks." Pastor Singleton had the dream and vision to see Loveland Academy become a reality.

In attendance for the ribbon-cutting ceremony were Rev. Jesse Jackson, Pastor and Mrs. Chuck Singleton of Loveland Church, Angela Davis and Eddie Wong of the Rainbow Coalition, representatives from Southern California Edison, local politicians and candidates, planning commission members, local educators, pastors, and members of the community. Loveland member, Debra Williams, took the Dreams Come True Project to her fellow-workers at Southern California Edison, allowing God to use them to make this dream a reality. Hughes Aircraft Company also participated by donating 18 portable classrooms for the academy. Southern California Edison V.P., Mike Mendez stated, "We are proud to be a part of the project." Rev. Jackson acknowledged them as part of corporate America willing to assume their social responsibility.

During the press conference, Rev. Jesse Jackson introduced his "Reclaim Our Youth" program. He asked that parents would pledge to: take their children to school; meet children's teachers; exchange home phone numbers; turn off the television three hours daily; and pick up report cards. The program's goal is to mobilize 100 churches across the country to reclaim 100 youth annually, allowing judges to consign youth to churches instead of jails - result: 10,000 youth saved.

As one reporter attempted to question Rev. Jackson about the "O.J." matter, Rev. Jackson responded that coverage should be dedicated to "today's youth; 'Our youth have hope past O.J.," Jackson noted. He congratulated Edison and Hughes for being so rare in these times, and assured them that Loveland is a community source for making a difference."

As a part of the Super Sunday Youth services at Loveland Church, the program emcee, Charles Armstrong, told the audience he was not apologizing to those who do not understand worshipping God through rap music. He reminded the congregation, "We are dealing with a crazy generation, but God is raising up the Christian rap artists for such a time as this, and they are going into the devil's den and taking our youth back by force." The Original Gospel Gangsters rapped, to the glory of God, with their song "Why Can't My Homies Hear Me?" - a song for such a time as this! Bobby Ross sang a Christian redo of Al Green's "Let's Stay Together," encouraging the young people to stay in the Word and to stay with Jesus.

For those who heard the message as preached by Rev. Jesse Jackson, they were truly blessed. Telling the story of Joseph and his father and brothers, their reaction to his dream (Genesis 37:19), Rev. Jackson reminded the congregation, "The oppressor is not intimidated by the pimp or the dope dealers or the gang-bangers, but by the dreamers! We are at risk because there is a shortage of dreamers!" As he spoke of state-of-the-art jails and second class schools, the three strikes you're out, fear rather than hope, and even how Southern California Edison and Hughes Aircraft Company offered help on the Dreams Come True Project while others that were here first but didn't have the dream want to "slay" the dreamer, Rev. Jackson shared stories of those who dared to dream - Rosa Parks, Martin Luther King, Jr., and Nelson Mandela - their dreams and the answers to them.

As his message drew to a close, Rev. Jackson identified dreamers. "Dreamers challenge the status quo. The oppressed must forever remain dissatisfied. Dreamers make things happen. You must be alive to dream. When you stop dreaming, you're dead." Challenging all in attendance, Rev. Jackson said, "As long as we keep the dream the size of our circumstance, there is no threat to the oppressor. Keep dreaming beyond the circumstance."

Extending the Christian invitation, Rev. Jackson said that many won't go to church because they think the members are sick. "We won't avoid hospitals where we know the sick are if we are sick; don't avoid church because you think the members inside are sick. They may be sick, but they're trying to get better." A message about a dream and a dreamer, the power of both for such a time as this!

Audience gets ready for ribbon cutting.

Get ready as locals look on.

Get set and go.

Ribbon is cut, Jackson congratulates members.

Calvary Presbyterian Preschool To Celebrate 40th Anniversary

In celebration of their 40th anniversary, Calvary Presbyterian Preschool is having their first ever Family Festival. Calvary Presbyterian Preschool is a non-profit preschool serving children from ages two-and-a-half to five and their families in the neighborhood of downtown Riverside.

Calvary's Parents Advisory Committee is coordinating a carnival type event scheduled for November 5, 1994.

Their looking to include games, food, a silent auction and hands-on art activities for about 300 people. Financial contributions are being sought for help to cover their expenses.

Calvary Presbyterian Preschool is located at 4495 Magnolia Ave., Riverside, CA. For more information please call (909) 683-8497.

Claremont School Of Theology Receives $150,000 Grant

The Urban Leadership Institute at the School of Theology at Claremont (STC) was the recent recipient of a $150,000 grant from Southern California Edison. The Institute is the only seminary-sponsored, degree-granting program on the West Coast that focuses on leadership development for religious leaders.

Rev. Boysie Alexander

The School of Theology will receive $25,000 per year for three years and will raise another $75,000 which will be matched by Edison.

"We see this grant as part of our commitment to community renewal," said Willie Dixon, project manager, business retention, for Southern California Edison. "We believe STC's new program will train religious leaders who can bring about change in urban communities."

The money will be used to train church leaders, pastors, lay people and para-professionals to deal specifically with the issues and challenges of the inner city.

For more information about

STC's Urban Leadership Institute, call (909) 626-3521, ext. 292.

Grace Bethel To Host Revival Meetings

Wake Up And See

BY AGNES FAYE COLEMAN

I got down on my knees last night
then closed my eyes from sight
I begged the Lord to help us all
and teach us wrong from right
I asked Him why do some Christians
praise God then hate their kind
He said it is that way of man
who's born with a weak mind
He said, Ol' pharaoh would not heed
refused to set us free
then pale oppressors came then,
too,
created slavery

They taught Black folk to fear their own
to bite, backstab, envy
we've learned so well of jealousy

our eyes they cannot see That slave mentality is real it's what shall keep us down unless we realize the fact that we've been taught to clown
We must remember
those Black folk who died to set us free
we must remember
days of old when slaves were bred like beasts

Like Jesus told the blind man to open his eyes and see
We all must listen to His word and practice what we preach
Ol' Lucifer
he lounges there says
"Fight yourselves, yippee!
Just like that fool
ol' Cain he did slay Abel just for me Ah, division is my status quo I want your souls, ooh-whee!"

Oh, that Satan's such an S.O.B.
(sorry ol bum)
I hate his guts, you see

I guess that's why
I speak out now
to all you A.M.E.'s '
'twas God who set us
Black folks free
so now it's up to we to just make sure we don't allow his-story to repeat

Why do Black folk tear down Black folk?
I think I now know why
we pray to God
but, yet, and still Satan plays in our minds
We must resist that innate urge of overt jealousy
We must resist
that slave mystique
it breeds stupidity

The slave mentality must die that crab syndrome is stale
the gossiping and bickering will just insure we fail
Did "massa" make us enemies for all eternity?
I pray this false
I pray to God that we wake up and see. . .

"Father Along" Presents Meditations On Fathers And Sons

Book Corner

you can find the books reviewed below at Brown's Bookstore, 1583 W. Baseline, S. B.

"Fatheralong": A Meditation On Fathers And Sons, Race And Society

by JOHN EDGAR WIDEMAN

These meditations "on fathers, color, roots, time, language are about me, not my 'race.' They are an attempt, among other things, to break out, displace, replace the paradigm of race. Teach me who I might be, who you might be-without it." —from Fatheralong

Wideman's new work, "Fatheralong": A Meditation on Fathers and Sons. Race and Society (September 30, 1994: $21.00), is a profound and moving meditation on the complex bond between father and son. It is also an exploration of the racial paradigm that, as it has existed in America since its inception, "stands between Black fathers and sons, impeding communication, frustrating development, killing or destroying the bodies and minds of young men, short-circuiting the natural process of growth, maturity, the cycle of the generations."

"Fatheralong" is at once an intensely personal memoir and a fierce public manifesto. It tells, in part, the story of one son's efforts to get to know the father who had been absent for most of his life. As Wideman and his father, Edgar, embark anew on a journey to discover their roots in Promised Land, South Carolina, Wideman attempts to understand, and perhaps to forgive, his father. The trip marks the longest period of time Wideman has spent with his father since his parents separated more than thirty years ago. It is also a journey through time, as Wideman weaves together various memories of his father—from John's own childhood and adolescence in blue-collar Pittsburgh through his own son's wedding—to form a narrative of their life together. As Wideman recalls his own past and the various meanings his father held for him throughout the years, he comes to a better understanding of himself both as a son and, ultimately, as a father to his own children.

What Unifies An African-American Family Over The Course Of 250 Years

Seen through the eyes of children, "The Glory Field" by four-time Coretta Scott King Award-Winning writer, Walter Dean Myers is the story of generations of struggle, of joy, and of strength.

As a nation of immigrants, some arriving by choice, some by force, we are often engaged with questions of origin, identity, and destination. How does the flow of generations influence our lives as individuals, as family, and as a nation? Walter Dean Myers explores these questions in his potent, epic novel "The Glory Field." The result is a passionate and redemptive exploration of the common threads among the Lewis family, who survive and triumph over the tide of history. Land, music, religion, and ancestral stories unite this family across the fabric of time.

"When the family roots are strong," says Myers "the message 'we are a strong, moral people' is absorbed and allows children, and ultimately their own families, to triumph over adversity and build successful lives."

In the tradition of Alex Haley's "Roots" or Gabriel Garcia Marquez' "One Hundred Years of Solitude" Walter Dean Myers' generational novel follows the Lewis family from Sierra Leone, Africa to Curry Island, South Carolina, Chicago and Harlem. Slavery, emancipation, the depression, the Civil Rights era, and the 1990's drug decade form the historical backdrop of external circumstances effecting the Lewis family.

The main characters, however, are children. Muhammad, 11, arrives by slave ship in 1743 from Sierra Leone to South Carolina. Lizzy, 13, steals away with the Union Army. Turn-of-the-century Elijah, 14, strikes a tough bargain with a White man then flees for his life. Luvenia, 16, prevented by societal circumstances from attending college in the 1930's begins a cosmetics business. Tommy, 16, a star basketball player, shackles himself to a sheriff during a Civil Rights protest. Malcolm, 15, a 1990's flute and saxophone musician living in Harlem struggles to keep his crack-addicted cousin alive.

"Curry Island is a mythical island based upon the sea islands off the coast of South Carolina," explains Myers. "These islands, the main port of entry for a majority of African slaves, are to Blacks what Ellis Island is to Whites."

World War II welders construct the liberty ship SS George Washington Carver. From Black Women In America: an Historical Encyclopedia.

"What does it mean to be Black, to be free and to be a family?" are questions confronted by each character. "The Glory Field" itself, eight acres of farming land named for the cry of joy released by Moses Lewis after emancipation, offers each generation an identity connected to the proud Lewis family. Ancestral stories encouraging progeny to "do the right thing," and make life profitable, both spiritually and economically, is the inheritance of all Lewis family members whether on or off the original land.

One family. One land. It is on this land that the final sweet potato harvest will take place during a reunion in 1994 when city Lewis' and country Lewis' meet their history together.

"Black Women In America" Released In Paperback

"Black Women In America": An Historical Encyclopedia was a pathbreaking book. This massive two-volume reference work was published originally in hardcover in February 1993 to immense acclaim. Scores of reviewers (see enclosed excerpts) from Maya Angelou and Coretta Scott King to the New York Times and Ebony praised the book, calling it "remarkable," "a joy to read," "indispensable," "essential," "superb," "exhaustive," "excellent," "moving," "a treasure-trove," and "inspirational." Critics and readers declared it a book every American should read. Carlson Publishing, who published the hardcover, called it "the most widely reviewed specialized reference book ever published."

Although thousands of the set were sold, including more than 5,000 to libraries, the $195 price tag put the encyclopedia out of the reach of many individuals. To remedy that situation, Indiana University Press obtained the paperback rights and went to work crafting a two-volume, 7" x 10" softcover edition that retains all of the text and illustrations of the original. With more than 1,500 pages and almost 475 photos, the paperback edition of "Black Women In America" is handsome and affordable, with more than 800 entries and 400 essays by scholarly contributors in a readable and attractive format.

The encyclopedia's editor, Darlene Clark Hine, is a professor of American History at Michigan State University. She said, "It's a truly significant project because Black women have simply not been included in the historical record." Hine has spent much of her professional career helping to bridge that historical gap—a "gap" the size of the Grand Canyon. She is the author of Black "Women In White: Racial Conflict and Cooperation in the Nursing Profession, 1890-1950" and other studies of Black culture and politics. Hine is also an editor of the popular Indiana University Press series "Blacks In The Diaspora," which has more than 25 books on all aspects of the African-American experience, from "Black Female Playwrights" to "The Great Migration In Historical Perspective", and now "Black Women In America."

Raiders And UCLA Left Wondering, USC Is Back On Track

Silver & Black comeback halted by a late Charger field goal.

By LELAND STEIN III
BVN Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES - The long awaited Raider heart and poise finally manifested itself in a gutsy Los Angeles comeback against long-time conference rival San Diego. But, before a vocal Coliseum crowd of 55,385, the comeback did not earn the 1-3 Raiders a much needed victory.

Instead the Raiders are, once again, left wondering what went wrong.

Los Angeles snatched defeat from the jaws of victory, loosing 26-24, as they had the Chargers where they wanted them; pinned back on their own 20-yard line with less than seven minutes remaining in the fourth quarter.

But, oh that word again, the Chargers set sail on an improbable 65-yard drive that ended in a game winning 33-yard John Carney field goal.

The Raiders, after getting down 23-3 in the third quarter, put on a spirited spurt that saw them take a crowd pleasing 24-23 fourth quarter lead, behind touchdowns from Jeff Hostetler (1-yard run), Rocket Ismail (24-yard touchdown catch from Hostetler) and a 31-yard Lionel Washington interception return.

But, the Raiders had no answer for the Chargers third down specialist, Ronnie Harmon. First he gets 13 yards on third-and-14, then he breaks the locals back with a 8-yard catch on fourth-and-1 to the Raiders' 24-yard line. His heroics led to the game winning points for San Diego.

"The defense definitely didn't do our share . . . If we stop them on one of those plays, it's our game," explained Terry McDaniel.

Added Winston Moss: "They made it happen at the end. It all came down to stopping them and we didn't. They made the play on fourth down that kept their drive going."

SEAY HEY KID: San Diego's Mark Seay of San Bernardino High, knows adversity, but likes the feel of charging to the top. Photo by Gary Montgomery-BVN

The Raiders, with their second half exploits, proved that they are indeed a quality club and can compete with anyone. Hopefully they will take their second half showing and build on it.

With a bye week and away games with up-start New England and always tough Miami, the Silver & Black can come home to the Coliseum 3-3 or 1-5 and out of playoff contention.

My guess is Coach Art

Shell and his proud troops will be up to the task and find away to regroup and salvage the season.

While on the other hand, former San Bernardino high school star Mark Seay, told the story of the winners, saying: "Hey, we came down here and got the win. We held together after being down and came back at them with determination. This is a quality team that has to be considered among the leaders in the West. We are 4-0 and ready to take on whoever!"

of 39 passes for 364 yards. The main beneficiary of his tosses was Keyshawn Johnson, who corralled four balls for 105 yards.

The Bears (3-1) who were undefeated, also got run over by a freight train tailback named Shawn Walters. He gained 207 yards on 31 carries, gaining the most yards by a Trojan back since starting safety Sammy Knight's brother, Ryan Knight of Rubidoux, churned out 204 against Cal in 1986.

"Our offensive line got it done and when that happens it allows opportunities for Walters, (Dave) Dotson or (Delon) Washington to run," said USC running back Coach Charles White.

USC took a 21-13 lead into the half, in spite of having a commanding advantage in total offensive yardage. The Trojans had gained an eye opening 354 yards, but the tough Bears defense kept the score respectable.

"We said we were going to bring it to them on every snap," said former Moreno Valley Valley View's outstanding defensive end Willie Lowery, who forced and recovered a fumble that led to a Trojan Touchdown. "We are starting to come together as a team."

Added Brian Washington: "We knew we had to bounce back after the loss. We knew we were a better team than we showed at Penn State."

Yes, USC showed they were a very solid team and maybe the Washington game wasn't a fluke or maybe the Penn State blowout was a fluke.

On this day the USC offense finally got in motion: on land and in the air. The welcomed sound of Johnson-to-Johnson might permeate our thoughts during the remaining contests and possibly to the Rose Bowl.

Cougars' defense led by Hayes and Patterson, shut-out the Bruins 21-0.

PASADENA - Lovely laid-back Pasadena booing?

Mountains as the back drop, and it's a wonderful day for . . . booing?

Well, the boo birds came out in full swing to voice their displeasure in the quarterbacking of UCLA's Wayne Cook.

Who would have thought the defending Pac-10 champions would get shutout by Washington State. But, that is exactly what happened at the Rose Bowl before 43,877 in the Bruins 21-0 lost to the Cougars.

"I'm used to it by now," says Bruin's running back Sharmon Shah. "Our fans come out SC week. I've been here awhile now, I know the UCLA fans."

After getting thumped by Nebraska last week, UCLA expected and needed a solid effort against conference foe Washington State. But, instead got sacked by the defense minded Cougars. In fact, this was only the second time in 23 years the Bruins have been shutout.

UCLA quarterback Cook, was the brunt of most of the defensive push by the Cougars, getting sacked seven times and finally being replaced by backup Ryan Fien in the fourth quarter.

Chris Hayes of San Bernardino San Geronio and teammate Dewayne Patterson

STICK'EM, WHO NEEDS IT?: Chris Hayes of San Bernardino, had the power and stuck to UCLA's receivers like glue. Photo Courtesy of Ernie Hayes were the main players in Washington State's onslaught.

"We were confident . . . we knew we had the power," explained Hayes, who intercepted a UCLA pass and returned it 68-yards to set up the Cougars final score that nailed the coffin. "We played our best, but we gave UCLA respect."

"I was so hyped about the return, that I just wanted to advance it as far as I could."

Added sack master Patterson: "We knew in order to win we had to win at the line of scrimmage . . . and we did beat them up front. We are going to be something to reckon with in the Pac-10."

Concurred Hayes' dad, Ernie: "It was a typical Cougar game - defense. I'm looking forward to them going to the Rose Bowl . . . I can see the Roses. As for Chris, he is coming into his own and playing up to his capabilities. I expect him to continue to grow as a player."

For UCLA, the players were trying to find something good to hold on to in its solemn post game locker room.

"This is what character is all about," noted defensive back Aaron Roques. "It can go either way, but if we are as good a team as we think we are, then we will respond to the test we now face."

Added former Riverside North star Avery Anderson: "We just have to keep on playing hard and not get down. Last year we had two losses and we still made it to the Rose Bowl."

Indeed the Bruins are not dead, but they have to rejuvenate that electric spark that seems to be missing. If they can get All-American J.J. Stokes healthy again, they will be there in the end challenging for the Pac-10 crown. Even without Stokes, the Bruins are a solid team capable of competing with anyone in their conference. But . . .

Watkins, Roques And Smith Leads Cougars

RIALTO - Turnaround is fair play.

Moreno Valley Canyon Spring (2-1) implemented a reversal of fortune in its 41-14 victory over Eisenhower, defending California Interscholastic Federation Division 1 champions.

Last year on its way to a 14-0 record and No. 2 ranking in the USA Today high school final polls, Eisenhower spanked Canyon Springs 41-19. But it is a new year and the results were new to perennial power Ike. The loss was the worst Coach Tom Hoak has experienced in his 12 years at the helm.

With numerous stars from last years power house gone on to play college ball, the inexperienced Eagles were easy prey for the hungry revengeful Cougars.

"I remember last year," noted Canyon Springs quarterback Ryan Roques, who passed for 147 yards and a 37-yard score to ready for prime-time receiver Charles Watkins. "This is a good team and as the year goes on we will get better."

Added Terrelle Smith, a 210 pound junior transfer from Rubidoux: "I still love Rubidoux, but this team is a lot better than I expected. I'm happy to be here and a part of this squad."

Chipped in linebacker and fullback Leroy Wheaton: "I feel we have gotten better than we were last year. We lost some great players, but we are passing more and have the players to get the job done."

The proud Eagles who had just beaten a top ranked team last week, Muir, were shocked at the ease at which they were handled by Canyon Springs.

"It was a disaster," Hoak said. "I'm glad its over."

Well, the season is a long ways from over for both teams. Ike still has the youthful talent to make a credible run at the CIF playoffs. And of course the Cougars are expecting, and most likely will, advance very far in the playoffs.

One dad at least is expecting a solid run at the CIF title for his son and his troops.

"The team is just about where I expected them to be," said Leroy Wheaton Sr., who played college ball in Oklahoma. "Leroy is a chip off the old block and he and the team can get much better if they really want it and work at it."

Local Native, Lois Ford, Is BofA's Community Banker

BY LISA MARGOLIN-FEHER
Special To The Black Voice News

Lois Ford is one of those people you hope you'll cross paths with often. She believes in herself, her family and her God — and she says this is what makes her one of the top bankers in our community.

A vice-president and district sales manager at Bank of America in the Inland Empire, Ford credits her 24 successful years with the same employer and her boundless energy for community service to her supportive family and her faith.

"I have the responsibility as a parent to be a good role model to my children. And that means work hard, persevere, and be honest," Ford and her husband Arthur have two children, a daughter at Riverside Community College, and a son in 11th grade at North High School in Riverside.

A California native who was raised in the Inland Empire, Ford attended North High, studied at Riverside Community College, and lives in Canyon Crest. She has successfully completed several management and career development courses sponsored by the American Institute of Banking.

And Bank of America sees value in her strong work ethic. She started at Security Pacific Bank as a teller at the Arlington and Van Buren office. She was then promoted through positions of increasing responsibility in bank operations and management, until assuming the position of vice president and branch manager at Palm

Lois Ford

Springs Main for four years.

This year, Bank of America rewarded her tenacity with a promotion to district sales manager. In this capacity, she is responsible for managing a team of business and real estate loan officers representing 35 branches from Corona to Big Bear Lake, Needles and Barstow to Yucaipa and Fontana.

Ford says the officers she manages are experts in real estate and business lending.

"Their only function is to meet clients' lending needs. And, they are out in the community. Customers no longer have to wait at a branch to talk about a loan. A specialist will meet a customer at a convenient time, at their home or office if they wish," Ford said.

The loan specialists Ford manages walk clients through Bank of America's products and services, which include refinance and purchase loans; special programs for first time home buyers; and the lock and look program, offering buyers a lock on their mortgage rate while they search for a new home.

Business lending officers offer tailor-made loans for sole proprietors, corporations and special rates for minority- and women-owned businesses.

Ford's hours are long, but she makes time to serve her community. She has been a loan executive to the United Way of Riverside, and received several bank-sponsored community service awards, along with Security Pacific's prestigious Affirmative Action Award.

She is a member of Rotary, and past board member of the Palm Springs Chamber of Commerce, which honored her with the Financial Services Advocate award in 1993. Ford has been an advisor to Jr. Achievement in Riverside, and is past board member of the YWCA.

She has been president of BofA's Diversity Network four times, which recognizes leadership and commitment to diversity. She was honored with the prestigious officer of the year award in 1993, and was runner up last year.

"I believe if you are honest, show commitment, and believe in yourself, you will succeed," she said.

We Must Have Faith

Moreno Valley
by Charles Ledbetter

"We must have faith that this society divided by race and class, and subject to profound social pressure, can one day become a nation of equals". A. Philip Randolph, a speech given to the March on Washington movement, Detroit, MI, September 26, 1962.

I Will Never Give Up On Our Youth: I was visiting Moreno Valley High School last week, when a Black male student approached me and asked if I was a Christian. As a result of our conversation he invited me to visit his church, "Bradley Memorial" which is located at 25045 Alessandro Blvd.

I visited the Friday service and had a wonderful time listening to good music, singing and witnessing to God's Glory. I told the congregation how I happened to get there. Mario Taylor, a student at Moreno Valley High School invited me. We must not give up, all is not lost when we have young people of this caliber out there in the ranks of our school society.

We older people must help those young men or ladies that are seeking a way for a better life. A friendly hello may do the job. Starting today choose a child and be the influence that will keep him or her out of trouble. Some helped me.

We have lost two young men within the last month. We cannot afford to lose our young people like this. It may be your own child that you help, but help someone. Someone helped me.

"Poor is he who shuns his kin". Ptah Hotep 2340 B.C.

"It's the family that gives us a deep private sense of belonging. Here we first begin to have ourself defined for us." Howard Thurman, "Discipline of The Spirit", 1963.

Happy Birthday, Adriel Wright: I saw a happy little girl last Saturday. This young lady was one year old on September 25th. She is a very happy and active baby, and it was another example of God's greatness. I was told that this child weighed only 1 lb. and 16 oz. at birth. I saw an active, happy baby with friends all around her as she ate cake and ice cream.

These children displayed the love and caring we all have in us. She was surrounded by love. I sat and visited awhile with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wright. Hebert and Marry Wright are from Nashville, TN, which is not far from my home, Murfreesboro, TN. This child is blessed to be surrounded by so many wonderful people who care.

"I have learned too much of man not to be certain that it is only in the bosom of my family, that I shall find happiness". Toussaint L'Ouverture, in James The Black Jacobins, 1963.

"Your relationships with people begin in the home, where you learn values. It's the responsibility of the family". Melba Moore, 1988.

We have many wonderful Christian people living in and moving in to Moreno Valley. We must learn to live in peace. We will all attempt to maintain high standards as we reach out a helping hand. Together, we can.

Elect Charles W. Ledbetter November 8th, Candidate for the Moreno Valley School Board, Candidate for Peace.
